Is your starter option really worry free?

Getting a student interested in taking piano lessons is easy. Keeping that student's interest can be much more difficult - especially when he or she is practicing on a sub-standard instrument. Nationwide, the number one reason most students quit taking piano lessons is because they lack a good practice instrument at home.

You don't have to spend thousands to see if your student is going to "stick with it" either. Avoid the portable keyboard trap, the "free" piano money pit, the sluggish spinet, and the over-hyped internet special. Give your student a chance to succeed with the Gist Piano Center SpreadPay™ Plan. It's easy. Just choose your piano and select your priority delivery date. Then, when your payments are over, you own your piano!
